Helping Women Thrive - A Key Component of a Healthy Team

Presenter: Lorrie Lindgren

At least 60% of the missions force is female. If women are not thriving, the team cannot reach its potential. What unique care needs to be given to help women not just persevere, but thrive in their calling? This webinar will suggest pro-active steps to help women flourish on the field and thus contribute to a healthy team.

Through their interactions with Women of the Harvest, missionary women have conveyed the following issues that are important and central to thriving in their cross-cultural lives:

- spiritual/ emotional issues
- interpersonal relationships
- Agency / Organizational issues

Are you aware that missionary women ...

- have a need to connect with other women who “get their life”?
- are asking for spiritual mentors?
- desire a safe place to process their experiences?
- want to know that someone is aware of what they are facing and actually cares?
- face cross-cultural challenges that may affect both their effectiveness and longevity on the field?

For the past 14 years, Women of the Harvest has worked with more than 500 mission agencies to provide strategic member care for their female workers. Lorrie Lindgren, will be sharing what they have learned while interacting face to face with over 2,900 women who have attended their retreats.

Lorrie Lindgren is the Executive Director of Women of the Harvest. Previously she was involved in the leadership of women’s ministries in her local church and in her denomination. During the past 7 years, she has led retreats in 21 locations around the world ministering to over 2,000 missionary women. She has a passion to care for women working cross-culturally.
